Conduct and Cleanliness

The Lodge is a club facility – not a hotel nor commercial lodge. The managers must be treated accordingly – in a respectful, courteous, friendly and inclusive manner.

Members, guests and children must behave in an appropriate manner towards each other and take into consideration the impact of their behavior on others.

Members and guests who are accompanied by young children are reminded that facilities for children are limited. Parents are responsible for their own children at all times. You must ensure that the behavior of children is acceptably quiet and does not disturb other guests.

Members are reminded that the behavior of their introduced guests are (ultimately) the responsibility of the member.

There is no television or wifi. This is a conscious decision by the Club to encourage interaction and conversation between members, guests and children. Games and reading material are provided.

The use of mobile phones and electronic devices is not permitted in the lounge and dining areas (other than for the purposes of reading).

Dress standards apply. Members and guests should be dressed neatly and tidily at all times (especially at dinner). Bare feet, thongs, caps and hats are not allowed at any time.

Members and guests have a general responsibility for the cleanliness and tidiness of the common areas: eg clean up after tea/ coffee, reposition furniture after use, put games away, place rubbish in bins and wipe down surfaces after use (especially at night).

Skis and snowboard are to be stored only in the ski room.

Ski and snowboard boots are not to be worn beyond the ski room.

Consequences for breaches of Club rules and behavioral requirements are contained in the Club's Memorandum and Articles of Association. They include eviction from the lodge and/or cancellation of membership.
